HOLEPROOF HOSE FOR SERVICE.

Your darning troubles are ended if you buy Holeproof for men, women and children. Positively guaranteed for six months wear, or new Hose free.

A. M. WALDROP & CO.

"LIAR!"

That's what one of our customers told us when we showed him an "Interwoven" Sock so THIN he could read a newspaper through it, and which we told him would out wear any thick, coarse, heavy sock he had ever had on his feet.

"Very well," we answered. "Try this pair at our expense. If they make good come back for more. That's all we ask."

A little over a month later our friend came back and bought eleven more pairs and paid for twelve.

"I've worn those INTERWOVEN socks every day and washed them myself every night for a whole month and they've kept their shape and color without a hole. Simply marvelous for thin socks. You've got the goods on me sure enough."

Of course he didn't know what we did about the wonderful patented machines that make the Interwoven socks or he'd been more willing to believe.

Have YOU tried them?

Certainly wonderful.

All grades from 25c up.

Pure Silk at 50c.

BRANDON & LAWRENCE

Newark Internationals will play the first of a three-game series here today against the local team.

St. Louis, Mo., March 26.—The St. Louis Browns are expected home today from their spring training trip, and will continue to practice here, preparatory to an exhibition game on the 28th with the Cardinals.

Louisville, Ky., March 26.—The Chicago Cubs, under the leadership of Hank O'Day, will play against the Louisville team today.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1609—Hendrik Hudson sailed from Amsterdam on the voyage that ended in the discovery of the Hudson.

1836—William Archer Amherst was born.

1845—Sir George Anderson, the Scotch banker, was born.

1854—Orange Free State was founding a government.

1864—Lieutenant General U. S. Grant established his headquarters with the Army of the Potomac, occupying with his staff a small brick house near the railroad at Culpepper Court House, Va.

1904—Kurapatkin arrived in Mukden.

1912—Serious political trouble threatened in Cuba.

1913—Adrianople surrendered after a siege of 152 days, culminating in terrific fighting for four days. Before yielding the Turks fired the city at sundry points and blew up the arsenal.

LABOR NEWS AND NOTES

Several States are considering suppressing Coxey's Army.

Although there are hundreds of thousands of custom tailors in the United States, it is stated that fewer than 40 per cent of them are organized.

The asbestos workers of Toronto have signed agreements with the leading firms of that city which provide for better working conditions. They will next week seek higher wages.

The State Senate of South Carolina has approved a bill requiring railroads to pay their machine shop employees semi-monthly. As originally drafted the bill provided that manufacturing and textile corporations should pay their employees weekly, but this was stricken out by the Senate Committee.

A minimum wage will soon be established at Aberdeen, Wash., for women with an eight-hour day. Labor organizations are also concerned about the legislation governing the admission of allens from the East into the United States.

Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Norway and other European countries have for many years been making provision for industrial and technical instruction in the public schools.

The referendum is now being taken in the organizations of the bakery workers of the Australian States in connection with the abolition of night work in the bakery trades.

A one-year course in tanning has been established in the Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y., in connection with the National Association of Tanners. The course is for men that are employed in the tanning industries or high school pupils without practical experience who wish to take up tanning.

The maximum wage was invented in England before the minimum wage was thought of. It came about after the plague of 1348 had swept away half the population. Work was at a standstill for a lack of workers, and wages went up so enormously that the government thought it necessary to establish a limit.

HIS EARS DECEIVED HIM.

Here is one that was told at a recent banquet by Senator George Sutherland of Utah, when reference was made to the ease with which one may tumble into a mistake.

One evening a woman named Miss Cocker attended a reception, accompanied by her niece, who bore the same appellation. At the door of the house they were met by the wooden looking footman.

"What name, please?" he asked in an expressionless voice, as the women entered.

"Miss Cocker," answered the older guest.

"Miss Cocker, too," said the younger.

With this the footman majestically paced up the hall and paused at the entrance of the drawing room with a wondrous dignity of his kind.

"Miss Cocker and Miss Cokato," announced James, ushering the newcomers amidst the convulsed guests.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

BAKER CASE GOES OVER.

District Attorney W. C. Davis stated to The Eagle editor today that the Jules Baker assault to murder case, transferred to Brazos County from Houston on a change of venue, will not come up for trial until next term of court. Mr. Davis says the papers have just reached here, and as there is only one more jury week, it would be impossible to call it this term. He says there are 150 witnesses in the case, summoned from eighteen different counties.

TANGO CURE FOR NERVOUS AILMENTS

New York Doctor Declared New Steps Were an Aid to People Who Were Nervous.

New York, March 26.—The tango and Maxixe are curing the most common American complaint—nerves—according to Dr. Frederick Peterson, who upheld his theory in an address Wednesday at the Colony Club.

"I have noticed a marked decrease in the number of nervous cases among the people who are dancing this year," he said. "It is because the new dances appeal to older people as well as to the young that its benefits have been so noticeable, I suppose."
